About Us

Hi I am Heidi Keene, founder and owner of Karma Kleen LLC. As a single mother and professional chef, I found myself increasingly frustrated by the constant bombardment of harsh cleaning agents that line the store shelves as well as by the hassle of having to buy a different cleaner for each job! Each time I perused the shelves at my local supermarket, I was overwhelmed by the amount of cleaning products out there: bleaches for toilets; sprays for mirrors; abrasives for tiles; or foaming detergents for floors! What was even more troubling however, was the fact that ALL of these products came with ingredient lists I couldn't pronounce and labels that warned of burns, blindness, or poisons!

Although I took pains to keep dangerous products away from my child, I grew more worried about how residues or odours might affect their health and the environment around them. Inspired by the old saying, "We do not inherit the land from our ancestors; we borrow it from our children" I decided to develop a product that was both effective yet not harmful to humans, animals or the earth. I felt I could do more to ensure a happy and healthy life for my child and for future generations, and because we parents spend so much time and money on cleaning, I thought that revolutionizing the cleaning product market was a great first step to change. After doing some digging, I discovered an amazing natural resource that promised an escape from the caustic chemicals of ordinary cleaning products. It's called Bamboo Charcoal, and though I had never heard of it before, I quickly learned that it's an incredibly efficient tool that takes care of just about everything from household cleaning to protecting you from harmful electromagnetic frequencies
